

Promoting Learning through Project Monitoring

This Programme ensures that all actors participating in the programme use participatory and result-oriented process and impact monitoring methods.

By using Outcome Mapping, for example, a special focus is on monitoring behavioural changes within the participating institutions and organizations.

Feedback from monitoring activities such as in-built monitoring or after evaluations is used to further refine the general project frame with a view to achieving set objectives.